A NOTE FROM THE EDITOR • DALYNN MALEK

On a recent trip to Costa Rica, I was enthralled with all of the beautiful Bromeliads and Orchids that thrive in this tropical climate. I thought of our guest speaker Cristy Brenner, who shared her love of Bromeliads with us last March. I marveled that these amazing plants seem to grow carefree on all kinds of surfaces.

I saw many different kinds of Bird of Paradise as well. I was thankful that my LBGC membership has enriched my knowledge of plants so I could enjoy them to their fullest wherever I encounter them.

President's Message

Savor the Seasons in Your Garden

So many delightful things have happened with our Club this past month it's hard to pick just one! So I've picked two.

The Good of the Hive® Mural Kickoff. What a delightful night for our Club! Over 200 attendees came to hear Matt Willey, our muralist. His message: "Bees never forget that they are part of something bigger than themselves... their hive is a part of them. What if we embodied this idea? What if we got curious about the world and each other again instead of intimidated by it? This is why I turn walls into windows – to remember that we are all connected... that separation is an illusion."

-Artist, Matt Willey

The celebration of our Club's 'Love Letter to Laguna' and the energy we all felt that night embodies Matt's message. Our Club's mission gives us a sense of purpose and being part of our Garden Club Hive keeps us connected. There is no better way to spark conversation, challenge perceptions and inspire collective action for positive change than through public art. And no better place to do it than right here in our very own art town, Laguna Beach!

With the Laguna Beach County Water District as our partner and venue for our Gate & Garden Tour, on just one day a year alone hundreds of people from all over Southern California will see our mural and take inspiration from it. Facebook & Instagram & TikTok our fabulous Good of the Hive® mural. How about engagement photos? And Prom photos? Graduation photos? Holiday card photos? Share the BUZZ!

Mark your calendars and bring your friends, neighbors and family to our ribbon cutting ceremony at the wall on March 11, 3PM. The two finalist songs will be performed by members of LagunaTunes and the winning song will be chosen via applause.

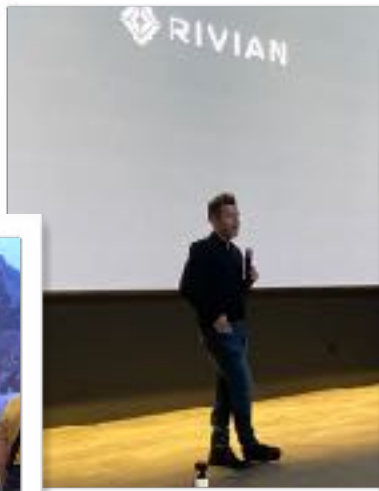

As a Club we have supported the kitchen garden at Glennwood House here in Laguna with our very own Master Gardener Monica Thompson as their garden manager. The Glennwood programs promote increased self-esteem and assist adults with developmental and/or intellectual disabilities in developing the daily living skills necessary to live independently and live, work, and play in their local communities. We invited residents of Glennwood to attend our Valentine Open House and Plant sale and they were delightful! They helped with set-up, enjoyed the program, bought raffle tickets and even won a prize. They enjoyed being part of our hive for the morning and felt all the love you showered upon them. Residents Carter, Lily, Eleanor, Baneh, Tina, Nicole, Joe, Daniel and 'good Daniel', Drew, Andrew, Katie, Diana, Meghan, Ben, Brock - and staff Patty, Dana, Jeanne are a wonderful part of our Laguna Beach Hive. I have delighted in spending time with them these past few months volunteering at Doheny Beach, revitalizing the butterfly garden, and on beach clean-up day. If you want to join us send me an email! I guarantee it will be delightful. Continue to look for delights every day - in your garden, the smiles of passers-by, birdsong, the voices of children skipping on the stones at your Good of the Hive® mural on Third Street. Delights are all around you

to share and enjoy.

March Guest Speaker Alan Barry Presents:

The Joy of Bird Feeding

Alan Barry, owner of Wild Birds Unlimited, will be speaking on the Joy of Bird Feeding at the LBGC March 8th meeting.

Take an engineer and an educator, move them to South Orange County, and they discover birds! Alan Barry and his wife Maggie, moved to Rancho Santa Margarita 26 years ago. They were immediately enthralled by the variety of birds in their yard and sought out a bird feeding resource. This brought them to Wild Birds Unlimited in Mission Viejo. After having been customers for several years, they bought the franchise from the original owner in 2014. Now both retired from their prior careers, Alan and Maggie continue to enjoy operating the store with their team of fellow bird lovers. Alan's presentation will address all aspects of the hobby of bird feeding focusing on the actions you can take in your own yard to attract local birds.

Please join us on Friday, March 8th at 09:30-10:00 for social time and refreshments, meetings begin promptly at 10:00. Meetings are held at Laguna Presbyterian Church in Tankersley Hall located at 415 Forest Avenue, Laguna Beach. Non-members are invited to attend for free on their first visit. For more information about the garden club: www.lagunabeachgardenclub.org or contact info@lagunabeachgardenclub.com

Please do not use church parking lot, street parking is available.

Matt Willey - Special Guest at Laguna Art Museum

As part of our Club's on-going collaboration with Laguna Art Museum we sponsored Matt Willey's The Good of the Hive® presentation held Saturday, February 24 as their final speaker in their Art + Nature programming. It was an intimate setting with about 40 people in attendance. Matt disused the experience of creating the murals including ours, and how the murals fit into the global puzzle – offering powerful moments of connection in our Laguna community and around the world.

One thing he shared which really resonated with the crowd is finding out that 90% of the seeds in the world's food systems are owned and controlled by corporations. For Matt as an artist and storyteller, this feels terribly bad. He said "there are only two symbols in the history of storytelling that are consistently used as symbols of hope and possibility. Babies and seeds. What does it mean when a few giant companies control hope?" This changed everything for Matt in terms of how he sees the bees and his work with them.

Our mural is now part of The Good of the Hive® world where people see the beauty and connectedness of all things and act accordingly – with curiosity, kindness, and love - for the good of OUR our hive. Spread the BUZZ!

Valentine Open House Plant & Planter Sale

Our fund-raiser at the February meeting was a big success thanks to everyone who contributed a container garden, brought items to the plant table, or bought a raffle ticket. Those three elements raised over $3,000! Sale of Gate & Garden Tour tickets brought in an additional $4,300. The lovely variety of containers was a delight to see. There was a fun range of stuff on the boutique table. Please plan to save up your gently used treasures all year for an even bigger impact next year. Thank you also to everyone who helped set up, priced the items, brought goodies and worked at the various tables. It takes a lot of volunteers to put on a successful event.

Three of the Master Gardeners in our club answered questions and gave an exceptional overview of the wealth of information available on the Master Gardener website. Please take advantage of this rich source of knowledge to answer all your gardening questions. (<https://mgorange.ucanr.edu>)

Going forward, this event needs someone to organize it and a committee to run it. It has the potential to grow. Our location downtown gives us the opportunity to engage the community, bring in fresh buyers, show what the garden club is and raise more funds for the club to spend on scholarships and civic beautification. Start planning now how you can help make it bigger and better in 2025!

Membership Update

Welcome to March! I am pleased to announce that we now have 232 members as of February 10, 2024.

If you have not picked up your 2023-2024 Membership Book yet, tables will be located inside for your convenience at our next meeting March 8.

And Mary Jones will step in as interim- Membership Director to hand out the name tag winner gift.

If you have a friend, neighbor, or colleague who might be interested in our Speaker Series, please invite them to attend a meeting to see if we are a good fit. The first meeting is free, and we accept members at any time.

No Doubt We Will Hit 1000!

Wow, our egg carton count for the Food Pantry is up to 780 through February! We are averaging 130 per month. Not only are we saving the Pantry 45 cents per carton but we are helping our hive known as planet Earth by giving these cartons at least two trips into homes before they 'die'.

With three months to go in this Club year I predict we will collect 1200! We can do even more if you ask your family, friends and neighbors to help.

Reminder to stack them like the photo. Only egg cartons with lids, please, not the flats that hold more eggs but have no lids. Plastic and cardboard are both welcome. Canned goods are also welcome.

Thank you to Mary Lewis for being our Pantry Ambassador and loading up her SUV each month to make the delivery.

Scholarship Winners Today

Dana Spencer and Stephanie Alvarado, students of the Horticulture and Landscaping Department at Saddleback Community College (SBCC), were recipients of the Laguna Beach Garden Club 2023 scholarships. I spoke with these delightful students at our meeting last spring then communicated with Ken Lee, Chairman of their department, to discuss using our Laguna Niguel HOA, which has many acres, for potential future classroom projects. It was Dana and Stephanie who enthusiastically volunteered and accepted the challenge to plan and design the highly visible clubhouse area near the front entry. Their comprehensive plans included recommendations and resources regarding drought resistant plants, seasonal color, fire hardening, maintenance, and irrigation. We live in a high hazard fire area and the students addressed the community's concern regarding future fires. Dana and Stephanie are a creative team who worked many hours completing this project. Their professional commitment has been outstanding.

Currently, Dana and Stephanie are enrolled in The Native Landscape Design Class taught by Jodie Cook (who is LBGC's featured speaker for May 2024) and Mike Evans. Jodie is the instructor who advised them on the Laguna Niguel HOA project and is well-known locally for her work with Moulton Niguel Water District developing their Naturescape program. Mike is the owner of Tree of Life Nursery and Native plant expert.

The project at our HOA was mutually so successful that SBCC inquired if we would consider having future students do design work in other communal areas and if current students could do group conceptual designs as finals for the class with incorporation of seating area, rocks, paths, etc.

The nearby Saddleback Community College Horticulture and Landscaping Department has amazing resources and talent and is willing to assist local communities through their classroom projects.

Thank you LBGC for supporting this program and awarding scholarships to deserving students!

Wednesday, March 20

There is a change in date to Wednesday, March 20th, our clear preference from the informal vote last month. The plan is for a self-guided tour with an 11:00 a.m. entry.

A club member shared an LA Times article (link at bottom) about the Japanese heritage Shoya House, described as “an early model of sustainability and a lesson in the beauty of simplicity.” The Huntington website also highlights a digital guide via a free app that you could check out (see below).

As usual, a sign-up sheet to join will be available at our March 8th general meeting. We welcome drivers - please note your willingness to drive a carpool on the sign-up sheet.

Please be prepared to pay your admission at the general meeting on the 8th for effective coordination of the group admission. The price will be $20/person for a group ranging from 15 to 45 people, and every person in our party needs a ticket. Cash in the exact amount is preferred.

There are choices of lunch venues on-site or you can choose to bring your lunch since there are picnic tables adjacent to the ticketing area.

We will carpool from St. Catherine’s Church on Temple Terrace. Plan to arrive at 9:30 am, leaving promptly at 9:45. Any changes will be communicated at the general meeting or via Constant Contact. Parking will be free. Reminders: pay attention for updates and changes communicated at the general meeting and through Constant Contact email and remember to wear your badge on the T&T.

On a recent trip to Costa Rica, club members Marie Wake & Dalynn Malek and their husbands Lewie & Chet, had the opportunity to visit the Monteverde Institute, a research and educational organization supported by National Geographic. We heard from a researcher about some of the institute's conservation initiatives, including a successful reforestation project. The MVI 38-acre campus forms part of the famous Monteverde Reserve Complex, an area of natural preserves that protect more than 65,000 acres of endangered tropical forest. This location underlines the importance of MVI's commitment to sustainability. In the adjacent photos, we are making soil pods for tree seedlings to get their start.

On another day we rafted through the Cano Negro Wildlife Refuge, where we planted 4 young trees as part of the reforestation project. The Costa Ricans are passionate about rebuilding their forests. -Dalynn Malek

February Trips & Tours

Almost 20 club members enjoyed perfect weather for a leisurely tour of the San Diego Botanic Garden on Friday, 2/23. President and CEO of the garden, the dynamic Ari Novy gave us an overview and pointed out some of the engineering challenges of suspending gorgeous chandeliers of epiphytes to make more room for events in the new greenhouse.

With nearly four miles of trails spanning 37 acres, we wandered among plants and environments from desert to tropical forest and everywhere in between. There are twenty-nine different gardens with more than 5,000 species of trees, palms, and bamboo from around the world. The bamboo collection is impressive. We felt like kids exploring the different interactive children's gardens. The gardens have expanded and there is a new entrance by the greenhouse. My favorite garden, Jeff Moore's underwater succulent installation, is still there, albeit across a parking lot.

After the garden we all enjoyed lunch at Fish Shop in Encinitas.

-Nancy Englund

Bees, Rain and Murals

Based on several studies and a lot of anecdotal evidence, we know that honeybees are good at predicting the weather. In fact, honeybees seem to be more accurate than The Weather Channel when it comes to predicting rain. Not only can they predict it, but they can estimate its intensity. When they sense a heavy rain, their defensiveness increases as they predict that food will be in short supply due to not being able to leave the hive.

Like the bees and their behavior in the rain, the Laguna Beach Garden Club sensed the clarion call for education about how dire the problem of diminishing pollinators has become and that the world's food supply is radically decreasing. According to a 2017 report, more than 700 different North American species of bees are headed toward extinction. This creates a huge concern for US food security. Bees are a key link in the natural food chain, without bees, many herbivores would simply starve. And without those plant eaters, the meat eaters would also falter. Honeybees contribute an estimated 15 billion to crop production. Honeybees are like flying dollar bills flying over US crops!

Our bee friends, particularly wild bees are also responsible for climate change mitigation. They are credited with fostering rich natural vegetation, which is known to offset carbon emissions. This is why your Board of Directors felt so strongly about raising greater awareness to the plight that will affect every single one of us if we cannot turn the tide on this serious problem.

Public murals have long served as powerful platforms for social activism. Public art is uniquely accessible and enables people to experience art during daily life, outside of museums. By presenting these messages in public spaces, artists spark conversation, challenge perceptions, and inspire collective action for positive change. The engagement builds a sense of ownership and pride within a community, fostering a shared commitment to the message. Public art activates the imagination and encourages people to pay attention and perceive more deeply the environment they occupy. A lecture or email does not have near the same impact!

Combined with our participation in bringing more pollinator gardens to our city, assisting the local schools to integrate this education using the school gardens we have funded, and now with our beautiful mural, we hope to spread the message in a hope-driven, positive way to change the behaviors in all who engage with this beautiful work of art.

So if you have wondered why a mural? Why this mural? Why this artist? Why now? I hope you understand the depth of the thought process that went into deciding how we, as a club could have the biggest impact on our city to bring about the changes needed to reverse this dire trend. From influencing public policy such as the latest bill to save the bees signed by Governor Newsom to restrict bee-killing neonicotinoids (class of pesticides) to encouraging the allowance of more green space to provide more habitat as the Xerces society focuses on, (yet another organization that the club supports), to having the public understand and appreciate what pollinators bring to their lives. “Bee” positive and “Bee” supportive and help save the bees!
